

Information for customers and suppliers: REACH-regulation

European community regulation no. 1907/2006

The European agency for chemicals ECHA published a list of especially alarming substances which fulfil the criteria of article 57 of the above mentioned REACH regulation and have been identified according to the procedure named in article 59 of the regulation.

A list of the products that are classified as dangerous can be found on the following link:

The company Stefan Pfaff Werkzeug- & Formenbau GmbH & Co. KG is a downstream operator with the meaning of REACH and is therefore not responsible for the registration of substances. Our suppliers are committed to register the usage of especially alarming substances in their products we obtain from them and furthermore they have to inform our purchasing department in such a case. For the realization of REACH we rely on the information from our suppliers and therefore we stand in the exchange of information with them.

To our best knowledge and based on current product information from our suppliers, it is not to be expected that our products contain substances of the current REACH-list of candidates in a concentration of more than 0.1 mass percent.

The company Stefan Pfaff Werkzeug- & Formenbau GmbH & Co. KG is aware of its responsibility within the supply chain and respects the guidelines demanded by the REACH regulation. We know our obligation to inform according to the REACH regulation and take it very seriously for the well-being and protection of our customers. Therefore, we will provide all necessary and available information for the safe use of our products for our customers.
